After Kellie's riding accident, we went to the hospital and they did x-rays. Nothing was broken, but we were warned that she would scar and have permanent dirt marks.

After we left the hospital, she used her red light consistently for seven days. We could almost see her heal before our eyes. By the seventh day, the bruising was gone and her face had healed!

The Photonic Health Red Light emits red light within a very specific therapeutic range. When cells are healthy, they vibrate at an optimum level. When a cell is damaged or diseased, the vibration level is decreased. The application of the Photonic Health Red Light mimics the vibration level of a healthy cell. It's similar to putting jumper cables on a dead battery in a car.
